

Silenced, Mrs. Poore Walks Out On Her Colleagues

By John P. Sawyer

The school committee's most recent evaluation of the superintendent of schools indicated high marks for Dr. Kenneth Seifert's performance.

But the wheels are turning once again, and in related discussion Tuesday night, Susan Poore walked away from a school committee meeting shortly after Chairman Richard Neal pounded the gavel to silence her.

"Let the minutes show," said Poore on her way out, "(I'm) departing from the meeting."

She gave no further explanation, but her departure came just a few minutes after Neal stopped committee discussion of the summary of the superintendent's goals for the year by using the gavel to silence Poore. Neal had started discussion of the next agenda item when Poore got up and left moments later.

That discussion was interrupted by Seifert, who in asking for a few minutes to talk to the committee, stated there must be "mutuality of understanding" and said he was not sure he would be evaluated by all school committee members. He asked if his performance would be measured "by five people."

Seifert noted he had "questions" as a superintendent, stating, "I have concerns. I want the minutes to show it."

After the committee had reviewed a list called, "Summary of Superintendent's Goals for the Year," Neal noted the document would be helpful when the time comes to once again evaluate the performance of Seifert, Andover's superintendent for 14 years, who recently received a favorable rating.

But Poore said some of the listed goals were ongoing efforts, some should be put into time frames and others were matters in which the superintendent would simply be overseeing the efforts of other people. She said, in some cases, the questions how, when and why could be asked about some of the goals.

Neal indicated the goals were just a summary, and if a more detailed document with specifics, objectives and time tables, were desired, a motion to that effect should be put on the table.

Poore made the motion, but after a few minutes, Neal declared there was no second to the motion, killing it.

Poore stated she did not consider the goals' document a goal-making process. After Neal and Poore exchanged a few comments, during which Poore asked if the committee was endorsing the document by virtue of silence, Neal pounded the gavel to end discussion, and he went on with the meeting to the next agenda item.

The committee took no vote on the goals' summary.

Poore left the meeting a few minutes later.

Seifert told schoolmen the evaluation of superintendents in general, and not particularly in Andover, is the "biggest political football" in public education.

He said he only wants the school committee to tell him what his job is supposed to be. He noted that the committee's discussion of goals for the superintendent has been continuing for a few months. Seifert said the committee was moving in the right direction in an effort to indicate what was expected of the schools superintendent.

Seifert reviewed with the school committee the summary list of goals presented Tuesday night. The goals were:

RELATIONSHIP WITH SCHOOL COMMITTEE: Quarterly reports (or maybe three times per year) on problems and progress of the school system;

COMMUNITY RELATIONSHIPS: Active participation in Kiwanis; active participation as member of Board of Directors of the Lawrence Boys Club. Seifert said a boys-girls club is "badly needed" in Andover and said he hoped one might be started in the future; work with three P.T.O. groups in Parents Covenant Concept; establish a school system hotline or administrators' office hours during which the public could ask questions;

STAFF AND PERSONNEL RELATIONSHIPS: Implement comprehensive program for improving morale, with the central office working closely with individual school efforts. Seifert said staff who are doing a good job should be given credit for it, and those who may, perhaps deliberately, not be doing a good job should also be notified; work on an instructional project with staff in each school;

EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP: When financial structure is established, propose to the committee a three-year educational plan to correlate with our financial resources; attempt a smooth transition in the building program (all three phases — Doherty, West Junior and High School); coordinate an examination of secondary education involving staff, students and parents, keeping in mind it is important that the elementary and secondary studies go in the same direction; establish consistency and articulation in all instructional programs; share the established policies and procedures within each program with school committee and students; clarify principals', program advisors', maintenance and custodians' roles;

U Lowell Marching Band Featured At Field Show

Considered to be among 'New England's Finest,' the 100-member University of Lowell Marching Band and color guard will perform as the highlight attraction of the third annual Andover High School Invitational Marching Band Field Show and Competition, Sunday Oct. 3 at the Eugene V. Lovely field beginning at 11 a.m.

There will be ten regional high school bands performing in competition or exhibition as part of the day's activities, including the Andover High Golden Warrior band.

The University of Lowell band will be using the performance as a final tuneup for a scheduled appearance at half-time at Schaefer Stadium, if the Patriots are back in action by Oct. 10.

The band marches in precision 'corps' style drill while playing music specifically arranged to accommodate the talents of the band members, most of whom are majoring in music at the university. The band is under the direction of Dr. Thomas G. Elliott, dean of the college of music, and Brent Fergusson, assistant director. The band is particularly proud of its percussion section this year.

The Oct. 3 event is being conducted by the Andover Band Association, Inc. The show will be in memory of the late Alfio B. Graceffa, who was band director for the last 12 years. A scholarship in his memory has been set up at Andover Savings Bank, Customer Service, Main Street, Andover for those wishing to donate.

First Quarter Funding Issued

Andover will receive $420,703 in first quarter state funding for Chapter 70 School Aid.

The first quarter disbursements, totalling $179,624,134, were announced this past week by Gov. King and Commissioner of Revenue Joyce L. Hampers.

The Greater Lawrence Technical School District received $633,251 under the state funding formula.

Gravel Pit Hearing To Be Oct. 18

A public hearing before the selectmen on the renewal of developer Yvon Cormier's Andover Country Club gravel removal permit has been re-scheduled for Monday, Oct. 18, at Memorial Hall Library.

The hearing, originally scheduled for this week, was postponed because Cormier failed to notify all abutters of the hearing as required by law, according to Town Manager Kenneth Mahony.

The subdivision is now under construction off Canterbury Street, and will eventually include some 270 houses.

Licenses, Permits Approved

The selectmen approved a number of licenses and permits during a brief meeting Monday night, but declined to act on a requested video games license.

The Knights of Columbus, Osgood Street, had requested an automatic amusement devices license for three video games. But the selectmen agreed to table that request until Oct. 18, because they plan to develop a policy on issuing video game licenses. They are awaiting information from other town boards and staff, including the Zoning Board of Appeals, before discussing the proposed policy, the selectmen indicated.

The board approved a request from the Rolling Green Health and Fitness Center to hold a road race at 2 p.m. Nov. 14 starting at the Rolling Green, and following a course along Lowell Street, Lovejoy Road, Dascomb Road, Reservation Road, Oriole Drive, Argilla Road, Hickory Lane, Wild Rose Drive, and then looping back to the Rolling Green.

New England Telephone was granted permission to lay and maintain underground conduit and one controlled manhole under South Main Street.

And, acting as sewer commissioners, the selectmen approved one sanitary sewer connection for Dascomb Road, and 11 connections for Stafford Lane.

Christmas Planning Underway

With Labor Day little more than two weeks past, can Christmas shopping time be far behind?

Apparently not, because the selectman Monday night okayed the Andover Center Association's request to close off Main Street from Elm Square to Punchard Avenue from 6 to 9 p.m.

Friday, Dec. 10, for "Family Night" — the merchants' way of thanking all who shop downtown.

The evening will feature choral groups at various locations along Main Street, and refreshments will be served at many stores. The center merchants hope to make Family Night an annual event.

Powers Is Appointed To Board

Dennis Powers of Ferndale Avenue was named to the Conservation Commission Monday night, with the unanimous approval of the Board of Selectmen. Powers becomes the newest member of the seven-member committee.

League To Plan For Festival

An open meeting to update the public on plans for their first Arts Festival, as well as their negotiations for a building to provide working space for area artists, will be held Wednesday, Sept. 29, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Stevens Memorial Library, 345 North Main St., North Andover, by the Merrimack Valley Arts League.

The Festival will include an art exhibit from Oct. 16-23 in the Arts Center on the Phillips Academy campus, with an auction taking place on Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m., following a reception beginning at 6 p.m.

During May 1982, 365 tornadoes were recorded throughout the country, the highest number since May 1965 when 275 tornadoes were documented, Massachusetts Audubon reports.

The purpose of the auction is as a fundraiser to further the goal of the league in opening the building for artists. The festival exhibit and auction or supporting local art endeavors in general are welcome and encouraged to attend.

The meeting on Sept. 29 will feature a film on creativity. Anyone interested in participating in

Drunk Driving Exhibit At Airport On Sunday

One out of every two Americans will be victimized by a drunk driver in their lifetimes. And more Americans have died in alcohol-related accidents during the past two years than were killed in Viet Nam.

The public Drunk Driving Demonstration on Sunday, Sept. 26, at 1 p.m. at Lawrence Airport will illustrate the effects of alcohol on coordination and timing while driving. The event is free.

Lawrence General Hospital's (LGH) emergency department staff, the hospital's Alcohol Safety Action Program (ASAP) and the seven area police departments of Andover, Boxford, Haverhill, Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Salem, N.H., suggest the public make a day of it—bring lawn chairs or sit on their cars to watch volunteer drivers maneuver a pylon course after drinking. Take I-495 to Rte. 125N, then Holt Road to demonstration entrance (not the airport main entrance).

Drunk driving has become an epidemic and considering that one out of every two Americans will be involved as either victim or driver in a drunk-driving accident, the odds come down to every family.

The staff in LGH's emergency department, the busiest emergency center for the eastern portion of the Merrimack Valley, are often fighting for the lives of victims of alcohol-related accidents. In honor of September being emergency Medical Care Month, LGH decided to spotlight their ongoing concern to curb drinking and driving by staging a drunk-driving demonstration.

Seventy volunteer drivers will maneuver a course of backing in and out section, slow curve section, serpentine section and an evasive action section (drivers must veer left or right at a fork on command without touching the brakes).

Jude Paul Perocchi, first justice of the Lawrence District Court, is a driver. The other drivers are Bob Charest, Methuen general assignment reporter for the Lawrence Eagle Tribune; John Phillip Foley, assistant news director at WCM/WCGY radio station in Lawrence; Sue Burke, emergency medical technician and ambulance driver for A-Medic ambulance company; Jackie Mannion, school bus driver; Vincent Greco, hazardous material trucker, and Jim Cropper, staff member of ASAP, a program for persons arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Captain Port of the Massachusetts State Police, and the No Name Players, a comedy group who perform on the Woburn-Lowell cable TV show "Generic Laugh," will co-host.

On Tuesday the entire demonstration will be re-run for area high school students as teenagers are often involved in alcohol-related accidents.

YMCA Offering Special Courses

The Andover-North Andover YMCA is now taking registration for their Fall Special Interest Programs which include, Creative Intimacy, Assertiveness Training, Calligraphy and a Self Defense Workshop.

Creative Intimacy is for those in the "helping people" profession, teachers, nurses, mothers, fathers, supervisors etc. It is designed for people who want to develop openness, trust, warmth and responsiveness in their relationships. The workshops will focus on communication, conflict management and self-esteem, as well as exploring paths to self-acceptance and learning to enrich ourselves and our relationships. Instructor Georgia Cordill London, MA. Ed. Psych, will be conducting the course on Thursday evenings from 7-9 p.m., beginning Sept. 30. Assertiveness Training will address questions relating to your ability to express yourself assertively, i.e., to get your needs met without infringing on the rights of others. The course will also explore ways in which you can assert yourself in a positive, direct manner maximizing your potential for getting what you want. Instructor Mark Burton, will direct this course on Thursday evenings from 7:30-9:20 p.m., beginning Sept. 20th.

A one day Self-Defense Workshop will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 9 from 7-10 p.m. This workshop is designed for women 16 years and older and will emphasize, safety at home, safety in walking and driving and defense of self and small children. Class participants will learn basic types of weaponless fighting that derives from ancient forms of Oriental fighting.

Calligraphy will be offered on Thursday evenings from 7-9 p.m. beginning Sept. 23.

The images of ten contemporary New England photographers present divergent discoveries in "PLACE: New England Perambulations," opening Sunday, Sept. 26, at Phillips Academy's Addison Gallery of American Art.

The public is invited to the opening reception, Sunday, 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., to view the photographs of Jed Devine, Barnaby Evans, Len Jenshel, Jerome Liebling, Peter Moriarty, Bart Parker, Neil Rappaport, Barbara Shamblin, Sage Sohler and Joe Sternfeld.

These photographers were attracted to photograph New England for many of the traditional reasons, says James Sheldon, the Addison's curator of photography, but they are mining individual veins, and their approaches reflect present-day controversies, dilemmas and problems of photography.

"Much of timeless New England continues to qualify the images, but the present is the reality which pushes through to the viewer. Our presumptions, so laden with overtones, give way to a New England we have forgotten or not seen before. . . We connect with reality and still find beauty. These ten image-makers have a strong feeling for that truth. Their walks through the landscape, confrontations with people and events, and rememberings are worth the thinking and feeling to see again." Finally, there is a purpose in these images, a reason why the photographers work in this place, and each has written a short explanation for the catalogue of the show. The exhibition will continue through Nov. 28. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday, 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The human tongue has four types of taste buds—differing between sweet, sour, salty and bitter. Cats cannot taste sweetness.

AFS Foreign Students Arrive

Andover High School has welcomed two American Field Service Foreign students this fall. Both students will participate in classes and activities for the school year.

Since 1963, the Andover Chapter of AFS has hosted students from foreign countries as well as sending Andover students abroad for an international, cultural experience.

This year AHS enrolled Juan Escofel from Barcelona, Spain, and Amporn (Tuo) Nowan of Udorn-Thani, Thailand. While here, Juan will live with Layne and Restie Dubose of 26 Timothy Drive who have four grown children. They will join Juan for family activities throughout the year.

Tuo comes from a large town in northeast Thailand where her parents and younger brothers and sister live. She has joined Francis and Pat O'Neil and their family, Chris, 13, and Conlon, 8. Tuo has already joined the volleyball team. Juan and Tuo are looking forward to sharing their cultural backgrounds with fellow students and interested community groups.

The AFS Club will sponsor many school and community activities during the year. On Tuesday, Sept. 28, there will be a candidates night for "Americans Abroad," to recruit and inform all prospective students who are interested in spending a summer or school year abroad. Preliminary application forms will be given out and students and their parents are urged to attend at 7 p.m. at Room 118 at the high school. Further information or questions may be directed to Tim Thomas, high school club advisor, Molly Ryden, foreign student advisor, or Nina Asgeirsson, chairman, student selection committee.

Photographer Presents Work

Bruce Lasting

Bruce Lasting, a portrait and art photographer from Andover, will have two shows in the next two months in the Boston area.

Lasting, who resides at 33 Wolcott Ave., is having a show and art sale Saturday, Oct. 2, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at 400 Cummings Park, Washington Street, Woburn; the public is invited.

His work will be displayed at the Andover Savings Bank Nov. 8-20.

Lasting displayed his work at the Art-In-The-Park in Andover on Sept. 11.

He moved to the Cummings Park industrial complex earlier this year at the invitation of its developer, William Cummings, after 10 years in a Lexington studio.

Late last year Cummings dropped into Lasting's studio for a portrait photograph and suggested that Lasting move into the six-story building going up on Washington Street where the builder had developed his Cummings Park complex.

Lasting, a highly respected portrait and art photographer, sits in the middle of Cummings Industrial Centers Inc., a complex that includes 15 buildings and 400 firms. He sees this industrial community as the base for both his portrait work and art shows—a community of middle and high income executives whose tastes lean toward color portraits of themselves and their families and stylized harbor views in vivid hues.

"Art photography, he says, "is the excitement of capturing something meaningful on film that will move people. There is an essential poetry in nature—in the ever-changing patterns of light, rich textures, unexpected beauty.

"Many people look, but don't see it. In the process of becoming a better photographer, of growing as an individual in contact with my own feelings, I was—still am—increasing my own sensitivity to that which is significant—to sharpening my visual senses, connecting the eyes to the heart, seeing and feeling in a sense what it is that moves people."

Parking Funds For No. Andover

Governor Edward J. King gave some good news to the town of North Andover—its application for $77,000 in state funds to develop off-street parking facilities has been approved.

"This grant to develop three sites in North Andover's commercial district will generate significant annual revenue and will increase the volume of local retail business," Gov. King said. "This visible economic growth, with adequate parking as the catalyst, will help to encourage a revitalized and productive commercial area in the community."

The $77,000 will be used by North Andover to construct three parking lots which will contain a total of 105 parking spaces. One lot will be located at 120 Main St. near Town Hall and two others will be on opposite sides of Main Street between May and Sutton Streets. The lots will act to offset the loss of commercial enterprises and shoppers to outlying malls by making adequate parking available in the downtown area.

Funding for the project comes under Chapter 313 of the Acts of 1982, which was signed by Gov. King on July 13. The law provides assistance to cities and towns to finance the construction of off-street parking facilities in Commercial Area Revitalization districts (CARDs).

The Governor praised Rep. Joseph Hermann and other state and local officials for their efforts in seeking and obtaining the funds to further improve the community.

Computer Festival

On Sunday, Oct. 3, the Joshua Eaton PTA will sponsor a Computer Festival at the RMHS Hawkes Field House from noon to 6 p.m.

The festival is open to the public.

Programs on display will range from software for home and school, including educational games, to software for personal and administrative use.

HOW TO DO THE TOWN.

If the sum total of your experience in getting around town has been two feet or four wheels, you might want to consider this tempting alternative.

Two wheels.

By the name of Towny.

The Yamaha Towny beats feet hands down. And it makes firing up the family car for a trip to the market, post office, bank, or what have you, look like the expensive, inefficient proposition it is.

Besides, the Towny's a heck of a lot of fun.

If you still remember how to ride a bicycle, you can ride a Towny. But forget about pedaling. Just start 'er up and go.

There's an automatic two-speed transmission with a high gear for city cruising and a low gear for extra hill-climbing power.

To convert the engine's 49cc's into plenty of ready, steady power, the Towny comes equipped with shaft drive. Unlike a chain, it's smooth, quiet, clean and virtually maintenance-free.

The seat is big and comfortable. And extra low so you can put both feet firmly on the ground while you're waiting for the light to change.

A few other things you'll be grateful for: Our Autolube System to automatically mix gas and oil. Hydraulic rear shock absorbers. Easy operating hand brakes. Full lighting and instrumentation. Front and rear luggage racks.

And perhaps most important, now that gasoline is measured in dollars, miserly mileage. Over 100 miles per gallon, in fact.

Whether you're going eastside, westside, or all around the town.

Eddie's A Pioneer On 'The Road Not Taken'

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Eddie Chateaufeuf

Eddie Chateaufeuf is tackling life the way most 13-year-olds do, mastering his favorite subjects (math and science), learning to ride horses and, occasionally, hanging out downtown.

There's one difference between Eddie and his seventh-grade friends, though: Eddie is tackling life from a wheelchair, as he has since the third grade.

Eddie's mother, Sandra Chateaufeuf of Prospect Road, sees her sweet-faced, brown-haired son as something of a pioneer. Neither the Bancroft school, where he attended school until this year, nor the new Doherty Junior High, where he is now a student, ever educated a physically handicapped student before Eddie came along.

Sandra Chateaufeuf, enthusiastic and upbeat, is a pioneer as well. It was in large part her efforts that made it possible for Eddie to attend school in Andover, and she is still working to make Andover an easier town for her son — for any handicapped person — to live in.

The words of Robert Frost's The Road Not Taken have become very special to her, she explains:

Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Eddie has muscular dystrophy, first mis-diagnosed as another ailment when he was three years old. He has been too weak to walk since he finished the first grade at Bancroft. For a while, his mother admits, "I was beside myself. The school didn't know what to do with him. I didn't know how he was going to manage."

Eddie's doctor at Massachusetts General Hospital recommended the Cotting School in Boston, a "marvelous" school for children with physical but not intellectual handicaps.

But to Mrs. Chateaufeuf, that would have been a kind of giving in. Her parents and her great-grandparents had lived in Andover; it had been her home for 15 years and now it was her son's.

The kindness of an Andover bus driver helped make up her mind. The unnamed man, who is now a family friend, was willing to take Eddie in his arms and carry him aboard the school bus.

"He didn't have to do it," Sandra says. "It was a real turning point in Eddie's life. I was ready to give up and send him into the Cotting School, and Eddie was ready to give up, too. But when I saw the love that had been shown to him by this man, I knew that others would have that love to give, too."

So it was decided: Eddie would stay at the Bancroft. And friends, teachers, administrators did not let him down. "That has been the real gift of Eddie's illness," Mrs.

Chateaufeuf says. "None of us would really choose to be in his position, but it has been a real gift. I hope he's given as much as he's received — I'm sure he has."

At first Eddie was carried up and down stairs at school in a stair chair (a light canvas and aluminum chair with wheels on the back but not the front), and pushed around school in his wheelchair by a full-time aide. When he was in the fifth grade, a porch-lift elevator was installed at Bancroft, making it possible for Eddie to get an electric wheelchair and propel himself around.

But Sandra began to look ahead. What would happen when Eddie left Bancroft? Neither East nor West Junior High School was accessible to the handicapped (although the newer Andover High School could accommodate students in wheelchairs, and has such a student there now).

She met with former town manager Jared S.A. Clark, and ended up a resource member on the School Building Committee, which was planning the renovation of Andover's secondary schools — with access for the handicapped, mandated by state law, a top priority.

Mrs. Chateaufeuf did not have to do much lobbying with the committee, she recalls. Committee members were "all wonderful. Their sensitivity and understanding were marvelous." Project architects from Perley E. Gilbert Associates, Herbert Glassman and Gerald Dion (who is no longer with the firm) repeatedly came up with "magnificent architectural solutions" to problems the handicapped might face, she adds. Serving on the committee "was a pleasure."

A few years and a couple of anxious town meetings later, Eddie is now attending a junior high school designed to be totally accessible to him. "The Doherty opened when Eddie was ready for the seventh grade — that is a miracle in itself," his mother notes happily, because the school has been finished a year ahead of schedule.

What is special about the new Doherty? "Everything," Sandra replies. "The ramps, the hardware on the doors, the bathrooms, the way the whole building is set up. The tables in the art room, for example, are designed so that he can sit at them in his wheelchair. The building is wonderful — but it's the people in it who make it most wonderful."

Eddie faced "no limitations" at Bancroft, and Mrs. Chateaufeuf expects him to be limited "only in very minor ways" in junior high. "I feel very confident in the staff, and I don't believe he will need a full-time aide."

Because the second-floor wheelchair ramps at the school are not yet ready — they are scheduled for completion in November — Eddie is temporarily restricted to the first floor. He works independently each day in the resource room, under the supervision of teacher Joan White (who assigns him homework), and listens to tapes of the classes he missed the previous day. He is able to attend music and health classes, and to have lunch in the cafeteria.

"He loves school. He's an excellent student," his mother says proudly. "He makes friends very easily. He's just a kid who's in a wheelchair — there's no difference in him."

Eddie, looking up from a math assignment in the resource room, says he likes the new junior high school. "It's different from Bancroft," he explains in his soft voice. "It's much bigger. It's hard to find your way around. But it's a nice school."

He has had no problems getting around, he says, although it will be better in November, when he can go upstairs. His favorite subjects are math and science ("His heroes are Carl Sagan and Robert Goddard," Mrs. Chateaufeuf says); his favorite teacher, Mr. Boudreau.

After school, "I do homework. And sometimes I draw." Once a week he goes horseback riding at the Wind Rush Farm in Boxford, which offers riding lessons to the handicapped. ("I was scared to death when he first went there this summer," his mother says. "But they put him on that horse, and there he went. He rode off into a field where he could never go in his wheelchair. It was such a marvelous feeling.")

And sometimes he goes downtown, with friends or his mother, and visits the library or the police station. (Mrs. Chateaufeuf works as a school crossing guard and police matron for the Police Department.) He also enjoys reading, bowling, and private piano lessons.

When Eddie's illness struck, Sandra knew nothing about the problems, the needs and the legal rights of the handicapped. Her crash course began with the help of the Federation for Children with Special Needs, a Boston professional group.

"Knowledge is so important — understanding your rights, and learning to be assertive about them without being obnoxious. I read tons of literature, and my eyes were opened. Then I went to the library, and it's just snowballed. It's made such a difference."

Working with the town's committee to remove architectural barriers, she has also had a voice in the TOPICS program, intended to make downtown Andover accessible to the handicapped. A new ramp leading into Memorial Hall Library is "super — getting into the library means so much to Eddie." Town Hall has also been made accessible, with a new wheelchair ramp and bathroom.

But it is still difficult for those in wheelchairs to get around Andover, because there are no curb cuts — "a curb a couple of inches high might as well be Mt. Everest" if you're in a wheelchair, Sandra points out. "Curb cuts will make a big difference."

Mrs. Chateaufeuf will continue to work for the rights of the handicapped, because it means working for her son. "I have no choice," she says with a small smile. "I'm going to do all that I can to help him make the most of his life and be a contributing member of society."

She has fought for Eddie's rights and needs while working and raising two other children (Naomi, 20, and Lori, 16) as a single parent. And she is currently studying nursing at Northern Essex Community College.

Sandra has warm praise for everyone who has touched Eddie's life, from retiring state representative Gerald Cohen (who helped pass Chapter 766, guaranteeing public education for children with special needs), Andover School Superintendent Kenneth Seifert and Assistant Superinten-

Receives Stripe At Convocation

Susan Efinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Efinger of Andover, was among 58 student nurses adding black velvet bands to their caps at convocation ceremonies held Aug. 22 at New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing. The chevron-like band denotes the added responsibility and achievement of senior status. A carry-over from military-rank influence of the past, it is a symbol of service to humanity.

dent Charles Mitsakos, to a myriad of teachers, school staffers and friends. "It's amazing — there have been so many people..."

Eddie, of course, must be credited with his own special qualities, those that make others want to reach out to him. He is a young boy who has found the strength to be happy in cruel circumstances.

Yet it is Sandra Chateauf's determination and energy that have really kept her son in the town that is so important to her. "I feel very fortunate to live in a place like this," she says. "There's a real feeling of home here, of heritage. I wouldn't live any other place."

And that has made all the difference.

to the class of 1983, in addressing parents and students in the hospital's Memorial Chapel, emphasized that since its founding in 1896, the school's diploma program has stressed a strong clinical component. She was joined in awarding the bands by fellow faculty member and class co-advisor Jeanine Bernat, R.N.

The seniors will complete their final academic year in May and join the more than 2,800 graduates who have entered professional nursing from the New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Boston.

Efinger is a graduate of Andover High School.

The '82 Campaign

Representative 17th Essex District

Sue Tucker

Sue Tucker

Sue Tucker, the Democratic nominee in the race for Gerald Cohen's seat as representative for the 17th Essex district, said this week that she would meet with Cohen and other Democratic leaders in the Greater Lawrence area. According to the candidate, the Merrimack Valley has "an outstanding group of legislators," and she is looking forward to working with them.

She is also planning what she calls "my outreach to the voters of Andover and Lawrence. Fortunately, state representative campaigning still takes place on Main Street instead of on television. A representative should be accessible, and serve as the voters' personal link to Beacon Hill," she said.

Tucker added that state government "costs too much to be an obscure group of functions in Boston." She welcomes the opportunity to visit community groups or organizations, and asks citizens to please contact Peggy Keck on Harold Parker Road, Andover, for scheduling information. The candidate plans to appear at neighborhood parties throughout October.

Also during the coming month, Tucker will be available in downtown each Saturday morning, and she urges interested citizens to stop and talk with her. "Ideally, the point of a campaign is not only to get elected," she commented, "but to go to the State House with a clear idea of what citizens are thinking about public policies."

Richard J. Bowen

The time is at hand for candidates and voters alike to get on with the serious business of discussing and making known positions on those matters of public policy in state government which may well impact all of our lives in different ways and to varying degrees in the days ahead and which a first-time representative can deal with or make a difference.

The band(s) may continue to play, the placards display, the bumper stickers stick, the buttons "button" and the posters "post" and along with other manifestations of the electoral process, will occupy the time and attention of all of us. But more, much, much more is needed.

The TOWNSMAN is to be congratulated for its commitment of space to address some of the issues. Apparently, the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, as well as the Andover League, will publish before November 2, Election Day, the candidates' positions on matters which they have identified as being important and surely these contributions are deserving of recognition as well.

One of the great traditions of American politics, however, is that of public debate, of public confrontation between candidates where they are required to respond to objective questioning on the issues as well as to react to the views of one another.

I would call upon my fellow candidates to agree to such debates. I would also call upon my fellow candidates to join in challenges to the Andover League of Women Voters, to Andover and Lawrence civic organizations such as the Friends of Shawsheen and the Ballardvale Village Improvement Society, to the several Andover/Lawrence P.T.O.s and to others to organize and conduct a series of timely debates between the candidates on such reasonable terms and conditions as are appropriate to Andover and Lawrence political traditions.

Lawrence/Andover voters are deserving of nothing less than timely, full and open opportunities to measure not only the "formal" qualifications of candidates, but also the candidate's individual ability and willingness to speak about and to the complex and sensitive issues of the times.

Kimberley Cronin

Kimberley Cronin

Republican Kimberley Cronin, 8 Pundard Ave., recently announced her "total commitment" to the new, tough drunk driving law in Massachusetts.

"We must crack down on the highway carnage caused by drunk drivers," she said.

The Republican candidate for 17th Essex state representative defeated William E. Melahn in the Sept. 14 primary to gain her party's nomination in the November general election.

Cronin said she not only supports tough penalties for the drunk driver, but she also feels driver education courses should stress the dangers involved in mixing alcohol and driving.

"It's appalling to me," said Cronin, "how people with great potential are wasted, who never get the chance to contribute to society due to alcohol-related car accidents."

She noted that this weekend, area residents have an opportunity to see graphic, "real life" demonstrations of just how much drinking impairs driving ability at the Lawrence Municipal Airport on Sunday, Sept. 26 at 1:00 p.m. The Lawrence General Hospital Alcohol Safety Action Program and area police departments have joined with the Massachusetts State Police to present this live demonstration, according to Cronin.

"I urge everyone," she said, "to see firsthand how and why irresponsible drinking and driving must be prevented."

To Launch Women's Calendar

A reception for representatives of women's groups in Greater Lawrence will be held Sept. 29 from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Greater Lawrence YWCA, 38 Lawrence St., Lawrence. Each woman is asked to bring information and dates for coming events in her organization. The information will be combined into a women's calendar for Greater Lawrence.

The Women's Action Committee is a group of women working together to develop and promote activities of interest to women. Its goal is to create an expanding supportive network of women working and living in the Greater Lawrence area.

It is hoped the calendar will bring women's groups together and disseminate important information about educational, self-help, social and recreational opportunities or events that would be of particular interest to women. Last spring the committee organized and sponsored a highly successful Sunday brunch at which Senator Pat McGovern discussed issues important to women in the 1980s.

The group will sponsor a day-long conference for women in the spring which will provide workshops in a wide variety of areas, including career opportunities, physical and mental health, stress reduction, child care and parenting and money management. Workshops will also be offered in Spanish. Plans include programs of interest to women of all ages.

Anyone interested in joining this committee, or learning more about the group's activities, is welcome to attend meetings which are held at the YWCA, 38 Lawrence Street on Fridays at noon, or contact the Greater Lawrence YWCA for more information.

Chiropractic and Sciatica

Sciatica (pain radiating from the back to the buttock and down the back of the leg), is an uncomfortable and physically inconvenient condition. It arises from irritation to the sciatic nerve which exits the spine in the lumbosacral region. Because spinal misalignments, muscular imbalance, and poor postural habits all cause sciatica, chiropractic adjustments can often-times correct the cause thereby eliminating the discomfort and stopping progressive nerve damage.

New Music Director At Christ Church

Earl L. Miller

Earl L. Miller began as the new director of music at the Parish of Christ Church, Andover, Sept. 1. He comes to Andover from the Church of the Epiphany in Danville, VA.

Miller was educated at the University of Montana (B.M.Ed.) and the American University in Washington, D.C. He earned the ChM certification from the American Guild of Organists and is a member of the A.G.O. as well as the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America and the Organ Historical Society for which he is the national chairman of their Historic Organ Recital Series. Miller studied keyboard with Robert Pason Hill, Rudolph Wendt and Lawrence B. Perry. He has served in parishes in New Jersey, Montana, Illinois, Rockport, MA, and Peterborough, England.

He is an organist, choir director, change ringer, as well as author, composer, recording artist and educator.

Music groups at Christ Church are undergoing reorganization to create an ambitious music program for the parish and community. Young musicians will have a choir rehearsal at the church late Thursday afternoon after which they will sing a Choral Evensong service followed by supper and a homework period. They will be joined in the early evening by the adults for the rehearsal of the all-parish choir. A special schola of eight to 12 members is drawn from the Parish Choir, which sings at the 9 a.m. service, to sing at the 11:15 a.m. service as well. In addition, the congregation heard the handbells rung for the first time in many years this past Sunday. Miller will form handbell groups for people of various ages as well as a brass choir and a small ensemble of those wishing to learn to play Renaissance instruments.

In addition to his work at Christ Church, Miller serves as chapel organist and choirmaster at the Brooks School in North Andover, under the direction of the school chaplain, the Rev. George Vought.

Miller will give an organ recital at Christ Church on Sunday, Oct. 3, at 4 p.m. under the sponsorship of the parish's music committee. The program includes music by Sweelinck, Handel, Guilman, Karg-Elert, Lefebure-Wely, as well as improvisations. The community is invited to the recital and reception which follows in honor of Miller and the new Associate Rector of Christ Church, the Rev. Marjean Bailey.

Yom Kippur Services At Temple

The feeling of Yom Kippur is not one of mourning, but rather one of seriousness. The Kol Nidre chant sets the tone for the day of fasting and soul-searching. More a legal formula than a prayer, it expresses the idea that man's plans and promises, no matter how earnest, cannot always be fulfilled. In the coming, as in the past year, promises made to God and to the worshipper himself may be wiped clean from the slate. However, those commitments made to one's fellowman are not so easily eradicated; this is an issue between man and man.

The Hebrew word chet is usually translated in English as "sin." This, however, is not a translation which carries the message of the Hebrew. Chet has its origins in archery, and the term is used to indicate "missing the mark." Such is the Jewish concept of sin—the mission of one's goal, losing sight of the important things in life. Among those spelled out for the congregation are sinning through word of mouth, abuse of power, disrespect for parents and teachings, exploitation of one's neighbor.

At Lowell Temple

The season of Awe begins its conclusion on Sunday, Sept. 26, at 8 p.m. with the music of Kol Nidre at Temple Emanuel of Merrimack Valley, 101 West Forest St., Lowell.

On Monday, Sept. 27, Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, will be observed at 10 a.m.

Rabbi Everett Gendler, spiritual leader, will be assisted by George Tsandikos, cantor, Pat Brown, organist, and Stuart Kaufman, David Breakstone, Ted Brother and Michael Logvin.

Those who are unaffiliated in the community are welcome.

The most poignant moment of the day comes in the Neilah Service, the very last moments of Yom Kippur as the sun's shadow covers more and more of the earth. "It is not the death of sinners You demand — only that they return to You, return to life," says the New Union Prayer Book - Gates of Repentance. "Trusting in Thy gracious promise, we have come before Thee, O Father, conscious of our guilt, yearning for Thine altar of peace. Condemned by the judge within us, we reflect sorrowfully on a life misused and filled with regrets, on opportunities neglected and resolves come to naught," the liturgy continues.

Then, as if in a final reminder, the great call of the Shofar is sounded and the Yamin Noraim comes to a close.

Services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 7 Haggetts Pond Road, Andover.

Mrs. Helen Wertheimer, president of Temple Emanuel, will be joined on the pulpit by the vice presidents, Donal Sherman, Dr. Martin Baer, Jack Hayman and Lewis Gack.

The following schedule of services will be held:

Kil Nidre, Sunday, Sept. 26, at 7 p.m.
Yom Kippur, Monday, Sept. 27, Traditional Minyan Shachrit at 8:45 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.; Main Service at 10 a.m. Mincha at 4 p.m. and Neilah (closing service) at 5 p.m. to be followed by Sounding of the Shofar and Havdallah Service.

WE PROVIDE CHILD SUPPORT

Bird Seed

If you're planning to feed the birds through the winter, now is a good time to purchase seed. Mass. Audubon is sponsoring a bird seed sale at the following sanctuaries: Ipswich River; Drumlin Farm; Broadmoor/Little Pond; and Blue Hills Interpretive Centers. The proceeds will be used to help support these sanctuaries.

Orders for the bird seed can be placed and paid for until Oct. 9. Seed pick-up will be Oct. 23 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Contact the nearest sanctuary of Mass. Audubon headquarters in Lincoln for order forms.

Many commercial bird mixes are designed to appeal more to humans than to birds. The Mass. Audubon mixes are prepared to attract a wide variety of birds and give them a sound diet.

Faces Charges As Result Of Route 93 Accident

An Andover man has been charged with vehicular homicide following a fatal accident early Friday morning on Route 93 in Woburn.

State police Tuesday charged Donald Gammon, 42, of Abbot Street, Andover, with driving in the wrong direction on the highway, hitting a car driven by Victor Majkut, 24, of Methuen. Gary Boucher, 29, of Lawrence, a passenger in Majkut's car, was killed in the accident.

Gammon is the husband of Andover Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon.

Police had originally charged Majkut with vehicular homicide, believing him responsible for the accident. Marijuana and what was suspected to be cocaine were found in Majkut's car, and his car was found facing south in the northbound lane of Route 93 near the Montvale Avenue exit. Gammon's car was found facing north.

After further investigation, however, police dropped the charge against Majkut and instead charged Gammon with Boucher's death. State Trooper Anthony Billie said witnesses have come forward saying they saw Gammon's AMC Pacer heading the wrong way before the accident, which happened at about 2:40 a.m. Friday.

Reconstructing the accident, police investigators later determined that both cars were turned around by the impact.

Majkut, in good condition at Massachusetts General Hospital, still faces charges of possession of narcotics and driving under the influence of narcotics.

Gammon is at home recuperating from a concussion and bruises, according to Mrs. Gammon, and is suffering from amnesia as a result of the accident. He has told police he does not remember details of the accident.

Atty. Carmine DiAdamo, representing Gammon, has said his client will plead innocent.

Variety Series To Begin

The Fall Variety Concert Series at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall begins Friday, Oct. 1, at 8:30 p.m. with a piano recital by Michael Kramer.

Kramer has been heard extensively in New England as recitalist and soloist with orchestras and has performed several times with the Boston Pops. In 1974 he made his New York debut at Carnegie Recital Hall. He is on the piano faculty of the University of Lowell and the Boston University Tanglewood Institute, working with such noted artists as Anthony di Bonaventura, Susan Starr and Ursula Oppens in the Young Artists Piano Program each summer at Tanglewood.

For his program Kramer has selected: Papillons (Butterflies), Op. 2, Robert Schumann; Estamps (Pagodas, Evening in Granada, Gardens in the Rain), Claude Debussy; Nocturne in F-sharp, Op. 15 No. 2, Frederic Chopin; Sonata in B-flat minor, Op. 35 (Grave: Doppio Movimento; Scherzo, Marche Funebre: Lento: Presto), Frederic Chopin.

In 1909 Searles commissioned the noted architect, Henry Vaughan, to design a hall for the Great Organ. He was an excellent musician and at one time gave piano lessons. His love for music, particularly organ music, was a life-long interest. Many churches in the Greater Lawrence area were the grateful recipients of his generosity in giving them church organs. He had an organ in his residence, Pine Lodge, and another at his beautiful castle in Great Barrington.

The Music Hall is located on Broadway (Rte. 28) in Methuen, just south of the square.

Also in the Fall Variety Concert Series will be: Kelley and Hatem, duo piano, Ivar Sjostrom, organ on Oct. 8; Father Gallagher, organ, St. Joseph's Brass Quintet on Oct. 15; George Faxon performing at the Scholarship Fund Organ Concert on Oct. 22.

'Vale Residents May Have To Medicate Own Traffic Problems

By Sue Aucella Deacon

If Ballardvale residents hope to ease industrial traffic on their streets, they may have to come up with some solutions of their own, Selectman William Dalton indicated Monday night.

The Board of Selectmen — and many boards before them — have been lobbying the state for years for a Lowell Junction interchange off Route 93. But while the departing governor failed to get that project off the ground, a new interchange "seems particularly remote during the next administration," Dalton noted.

And in the meantime, "very heavy and very fast" truck traffic continues to travel over the 'Vale's narrow old roadways, headed for industries in the Lowell Junction area.

"There seems to be a need for some curative attempt to the traffic problem" in Ballardvale, Selectman Dalton said. His suggestion: ask the Ballardvale Village Improvement Society to "come to us with their recommendations."

The board agreed, and Town Manager Kenneth Mahony suggested that the Ballardvale citizens' group could work with the town's Traffic and Safety Committee.

Selectman Donn Byrne warned that there are "no simple solutions" to the problems caused by industrial traffic passing through a residential area. He questioned whether Andover has the legal right to ban truck traffic, for example.

And Selectman Gerald Silverman added that there was little hope of a solution without cooperation from the state.

Public Works Director Robert McQuade told the board that if the town prohibits truck traffic on one route, it must provide an alternate truck route — within the town's borders.

He also noted that a truck count done this year at the town manager's request showed the number of trucks in Ballardvale is actually below the state average.

One solution, Dalton said, might be to have trucks turn off Route 125 onto River Street — still a residential street, but more "thinly settled" than Ballardvale's residential roads. McQuade said the town has already been trying to encourage truckers to use that route.

Besides the still-hoped-for Lowell Junction interchange, two other proposals could help the situation, according to the manager: improving the Route 125 interchange in Wilmington, which he said would ease traffic throughout the area; and using Burt Road, which runs in front of the Gillette plant, as a utility road.

In any case, the first step in the latest campaign to solve the Lowell Junction problem should be to "ask the people in Ballardvale if they want to try and come up with some solutions," Dalton emphasized. "They will have to do their homework."

Andover High, Phillips Students Are National Merit Semifinalists

By Sue Aucella Deacon

One Andover High School student and nine local students at Phillips Academy have been named semifinalists in the 1983 National Merit Scholarship competition. Among 15,000 semifinalists in the competition for some 5,000 merit scholarships, the students represent the top half of one percent of each state's high school senior class.

Finalists will be announced next spring. Javan Oston, the son of Frayda Oston of Strawberry Hill Road, Andover and Steven Oston of Reading, represents Andover High School in the competition. The AHS senior, who attended Sanborn School and West Junior High, has participated in indoor and outdoor track, the National Honor Society, and the Lawrence Area Temple Youth.

Last year, Javan traveled to New York City as a delegate with the Model United Nations. He has worked as a counselor at Camp Alton on Lake Winnepesaukee, N.H. Interested in the theatre, tennis, swimming and writing, he plans a career in law, and hopes to attend Yale or Dartmouth next year.

At Phillips Academy, 33 students have been named semifinalists, including Andover residents Charles Dye, Tamar Gendler, Daniel Heiter, Elizabeth Herskovits, Blair Kanbar and Theodore Silverman; and North Andover residents Samuel Avrett, William Elias and Margery Kingsley.

Charles Dye is the son of Thomas J. and Patricia Dye of Smithshire Estates, Andover. (Mrs. Dye is a teacher at Andover High School.) A former student of West Elementary School and West Junior High, he has worked at the South Church Cemetery, and on the custodial staff at Andover High. At Phillips, he participates in computer activities, crew, and spring track. He also works on the staff of the Phillipian, and has taken part in the Model United Nations. His career plans are uncertain, but Charles hopes to study physics and computer science at Cornell, MIT, or Rennselaer Polytechnical Institute.

Tamar Gendler is the daughter of Rabbi Everett and Mary Gendler of Haggetts Pond Road, Andover. She hopes to attend Yale next year, where she would like to pursue her interests in journalism, math, computer analysis or philosophy. She attended West Elementary School and West Junior High, and last year worked on the staff of High Wire magazine in Lowell. She has also worked as a tutor. Tamar is co-president of Philo, a debating society; news features and executive editor of the Phillipian; vice president of the Jewish Student Union; and a member of the Blue Key Honor Committee.

Daniel Heiter, the son of Dr. George and Friederike Heiter of Kathleen Drive, Andover, is a former student of Bancroft School and East Junior High. He plays varsity football, is president of the Day Student Council, and works part-time at Ciro's Bakery in Shawsheen Plaza. His plans for college are still uncertain, but Daniel is considering a career in engineering.

Elizabeth Herskovits of Central Street, Andover, is the daughter of Dr. Joseph and Elaine Herskovits. Her interests include the theatre, and she is involved in acting and directing with a school drama group. She also works as a tutor, and as a part-time kitchen helper at Phillips. Elizabeth is a member of Blue Key as well. A former student of South School and East Junior High, her plans for the future are uncertain.

Blair Kanbar, the son of Blair and Brenda Kanbar of Rose Glen Drive, Andover, attended West Elementary School, Sanborn School and West Junior High. He is active in the South Church, and has also participated in the Andover Chorus. Blair serves as associate editor of the Ponderer, an inter-school newspaper, and works as a disc jockey for WPAA, the Phillips Academy radio station. Interested in aerospace or astronomical engineering, he hopes to attend either Northwestern, Dartmouth or

South School Drastically Cuts Costs in Fuel, Electricity Usage

By John P. Sawyer

They're doing things right at the South Elementary School.

So right, that between the 1978-79 school year and the 1981-82 year, the South School has cut its yearly consumption of fuel oil used to heat the building by 24,310 gallons. Yearly electric consumption needed to keep the school lighted has been cut over the same period by 40,320 kilowatt hours.

That translates into money saved.

Schools Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert last week highlighted maintenance and energy conservation efforts at the South School in the first of his planned maintenance reports to the school committee.

Committee Chairman Richard Neal termed the energy-saving figures at the South "remarkable" and "extremely commendable."

Joseph Normandy, principal of the South School, this week attributed the savings to "a combination of a number of things," including a new roof installed during the summer of 1981, several maintenance projects of the preventative and replacement nature, and a conservation program in the school.

Al Hart, Andover schools plant engineer, said, "It shows what can be done," through equipment replacement and close monitoring of energy consumption.

Here are some of the projects completed at the South School:

A NEW ROOF with insulation installed (1981), 70 skylights removed (cutting down heat loss), barriers built to prevent children from climbing roof and unintentionally damaging it while retrieving balls, canopy removed, roof drainage improved;

GAS HOT WATER heater installed (March 1979), ending the reliance on main boilers for heating water;

OIL BURNERS replaced (spring 1979), and fuel changed to a lighter grade;

HEATING MAINS replaced (summer

1980), and pipes relocated to the inside of the building to eliminate heat loss. "Very poor design," according to Hart, had the steam mains running outside the school. Some were rotted and leaking, he said;

CORRIDOR FLOOR tiles replaced (over the last two years), and gymnasium floor repaired and refinished;

SYSTEMWIDE master key security program installed (summer 1982) to make it more difficult to have keys duplicated. Also, the number of doors operated by key at the South School was decreased;

ENLARGED parking area (1978);

NEW public address system console installed (1978);

PAINTING of building, external and internal (ongoing);

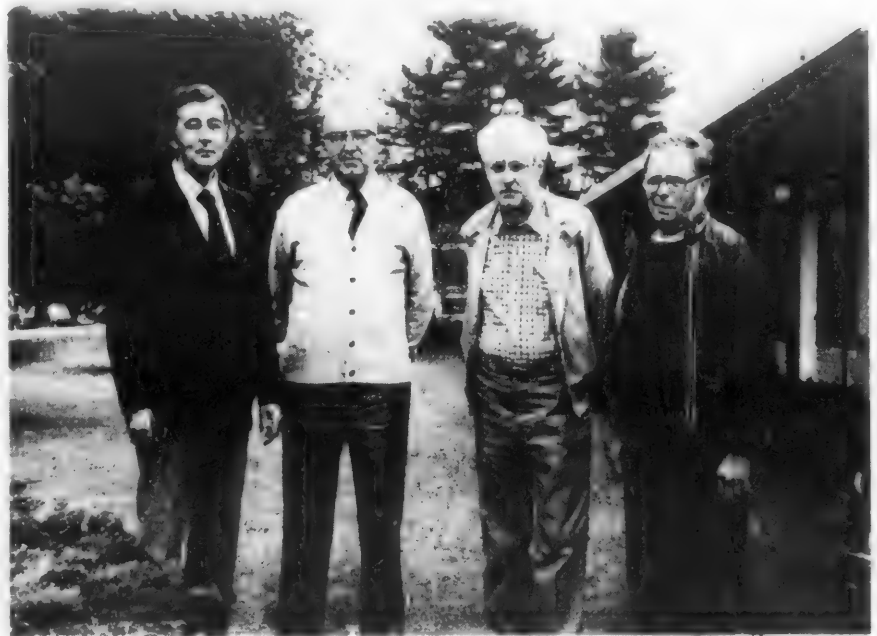

INCANDESCENT lighting being replaced by fluorescent lighting (in progress). This will both improve lighting and cut down on wattage used. Some lighting in corridors is controlled by key.

Jim Brightney, who maintains ventilation and air conditioning for Andover schools, noted the money for these projects came out of the schools' operating budget, adding that the projects have more than paid for themselves.

These major projects, coupled with an energy conservation program at the South School, have turned the tide on fuel and electricity consumption.

Everyone, including administrators, maintenance, custodians, teachers and students, must pitch in to help the South School save money.

Close energy monitoring, with which the student council helps out, and accurate record keeping are the keys that supplement proper equipment and maintenance in an energy conservation program, according to Normandy. At the South School, officials know how much fuel and electricity is used each day and each month. Normandy explained that on a cold winter day, for example, 200 gallons of fuel will be burned — 100 during actual school hours and the other 100 during the rest of the day and night.

Colorful charts, comparing this year's energy use with that of previous years, are on display at the school to heighten awareness of energy conservation and to keep students and teachers interested and motivated in cutting back.

Normandy noted that if thermostats are not accurate and properly set, energy conservation efforts can be thrown off. Heat must be turned up and down at the proper times — down over the weekends, for example. Lights must be turned off when not in use.

Seifert told school committee members that if every household followed the example set by the South School, we would have an energy program in this country.

School Committee Addresses Bus Operator Complaints

"We have our share of problems," said Business Manager Frank Paul, referring to bus transportation to and from Andover schools.

But while Paul was concerned about beginning-of-the-year problems such as routes, schedules and ridership, Dorothy Piercy, who owns and operates with her husband several school buses, told school committee members last week that qualified bus contractors are being "disqualified or cancelled out" of providing field trip transportation in favor of operators with no town contract and in some cases, no proper Registry of Motor Vehicle permission.

Here are highlights of last week's school committee meeting:

BUS CONTRACTORS:

Schools Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert told school committee members a precedent would be set if a letter from the Piercy's was read. He said other bus drivers might write to the committee about problems.

The letter was read anyway.

On Sept. 15, a Piercy bus allegedly arrived at the high school to pick up students for an athletic trip, but another bus also arrived, and the students were allegedly told to leave the Piercy bus and board the other.

The other bus, alleged Mrs. Piercy, had no Registry of Motor Vehicles sticker.

She told school committee members she does not complain that qualified contractors are being "bypassed" for trips, but she does object when trips are given to operators who have no contract and, in some cases, do not have Registry approval. She objected, also, that her bus allegedly was told the Sept. 15 field trip would be serviced by Piercy, and then another bus allegedly arrived at the high school to transport the students.

School Committee Chairman Richard Neal asked the school administration to prepare a response for the committee on the status of field trips and about three school buses that were cut this year to save money.

OTHER BUS PROBLEMS:

Paul told the school committee 50 percent more students are being transported to school by bus this year than last year. Last year, 2,700-2,800 rode the buses. This year, 4,200 students are taking the bus to school.

The Andover school system is having some problems with busing, but so is every other school system at this time of the year, according to Paul. He said bus schedules are set up based upon projected student enrollments, which greatly affect the transportation routine.

"We have buses arriving early, and buses arriving late," explained Paul.

He said all routes, starting and arrival times and trip mileages will be reviewed, and needed changes will be forthcoming.

SCHOOL MORALE:

"Overall, I think morale is very high" in the school system, said Seifert.

There Was Violation

The Andover School system this week acknowledged it has been "party to a violation" in its use of non-contract school buses to transport students.

Business Manager Frank Paul noted in a letter to Schools Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert, "Officials at the Registry of Motor Vehicles have advised us that use of a bus bearing S.B. (school bus) plates for the purpose of transporting students without benefit of contract constitutes a violation. This practice will be discontinued effective immediately."

The action follows a complaint from Piercy bus operators that qualified buses were being bypassed for student field trips in favor of non-contract drivers.

"We were party to a violation," Paul told school committeemen Tuesday night. "This has been corrected."

He noted one bus contractor with school bus plates who was cut in June due to school budget belt-tightening will no longer be allowed to drive Andover public school students.

A Fine Showing

Before assigning the primary election returns to the records and gearing up for the November election, it seems appropriate to extend to all the candidates who sought the 17th Essex District Representative post, an appreciative 'well-done.'

It is, after all, primarily an Andover district, even though the overall area includes some sections of Lawrence. It was logical, then, that eight of the nine candidates seeking the nomination in the primary were from this community.

That they put forth their best efforts to gain the attention and favor of the electorate was evident in the very commendable turnout of over half of the town's registered voters for a primary election which characteristically draws poorly.

For several weeks the candidates made visits door-to-door, debated the issues at candidates' forums, patrolled the downtown area on Saturdays and participated in the weekly forum offered them by the TOWNSMAN.

Basically, they did everything possible to get the voters interested in choosing their representative candidates for the final election in November.

Above all, it was a clean, well-conducted campaign which aroused and commanded the interest of Andover voters.

In addition, the campaign offered something else.

It presented new faces interested in serving the community. Some were young, bright recent college graduates, offering themselves to public service fresh from their college days. Others were familiar with the political scene from experience in governmental service, or groups interested in the welfare of the political system. All had something to contribute and would well have served the area, had their candidacies been successful. The town and the district has benefitted from the contest.

In reviewing the results and the commentary from some of the unsuccessful candidates, there is the definite impression that they will be heard from again, offering themselves to municipal service here in Andover either elective or appointive, which is a definite plus for the town.

The campaign for the November final election is now in full swing. We are assured that in the weeks ahead that campaign will be maintained on the same high level as the primary as Democrat Sue Tucker, Republican Kim Cronin and Independent Richard Bowen attempt to win the favor of district voters to succeed Rep. Gerald M. Cohen.

But it would be inappropriate to let the primary election efforts and results pass without taking a moment to express appreciation to all of the candidates for their interest, concern and desire to serve. It is through such effort and concern that our district will hopefully continue to merit outstanding representation.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — September 1907

The Selectmen have notified the County Commissioners at Salem to relocate and define the bounds of Poor street in Frye Village.

All candidates for the Royal football team are requested to come out for practice tomorrow forenoon at half past nine. They wish to arrange dates with any team in town of the ages between 12 and 14.

Mrs. Dwight Benton, grand-daughter of William Haggett of Andover, for whom Haggett's Pond was named, has arrived in Andover from Rome, Italy. She is a native of Ohio and has not visited America for 34 years. Mrs. Benton made the journey with her daughter, who went on to California to be married.

The preparations of neighbors to tar and feather Ferdinand P. Earle, the rich artist of Monroe, N.Y., who had arranged to have his wife get a divorce that he might marry his new "affinity," Julia Kuttner, and the harsh criticisms of the press and pulpit have drawn from both Mr. Earle and Miss Kuttner defensive statements. By remaining away from his home Earle avoided a serious clash with the waiting mob. Miss Kuttner was found by a reporter in a mountain retreat and told her side of the story quite frankly.

The National History Society had an interesting session Tuesday evening in the School Committee's room. Mrs. Frank T. Carleton gave an account of the movement to preserve the Indian Ridge, which resulted in the incorporation of the Indian Ridge association.

50 Years Ago — September 1932

The streets of Andover took on a collegiate look again as a result of the opening of the 154th year of Phillips Academy. The registration on the Hill is slightly lower than normal this year. Dr. Alfred E. Stearns is on a leave of absence from his duties as headmaster and Professor Charles H. Forbes will act in his stead.

The Taxpayers association met last night and voted to disapprove any action at the special town meeting. The resolution adopted was as follows: "Voted, that it is the unanimous sentiment of the Board of Directors of the Andover Taxpayers association that matters which call for action by the town should, insofar as possible, be dealt with only at annual town meetings..."

Mrs. Frank Belcour was knocked unconscious last Friday afternoon but escaped without serious injury after a blast which shattered the windows of her home at 49½ Elm St. Mrs. Belcour suffered only from the gas fumes which escaped from the jet in her oven, left open by mistake. Dr. Percy J. Look worked on her for half an hour before consciousness was restored.

Sept. 21st marked the 25th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the Free Church on Elm street. Rev. F.A. Wilson, now pastor emeritus, was one of the principal figures in the ceremony, as was Rev. William G. Poor, who preached here last summer.

25 Years Ago — September 1957

The DeJon Realty Trust has lost its bid to operate a gravel pit off Andover street. With a unanimous vote, the Appeals Board has denied the firm permission to remove sand, gravel, loam, quarried stone and other materials from the 31-acre site.

On the opening day at Andover High School the students expressed surprise at the size and complexity of the building. But a well-prepared plan of introduction to the new facilities has, after one week of operation, completely familiarized the students with the school and its operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Ozoonian of Osgood street are visiting friends in Palmer.

The playing field at the new high school is in such bad shape that the High School Building Committee has decided to discharge the contractor responsible for it.

10 Years Ago — September 1972

Kimberley Cronin, daughter of Paul W. Cronin, had a winning smile in more ways than one as dad received returns from the Fifth Congressional District Republican contest Tuesday night. Cronin will face Democrat John F. Kerry in the November election for the seat vacated by F. Bradford Morse.

The Andover school system's supervisor of general services, Jack Berberian, has resigned, effective Sept. 30, to accept a similar position in the Bedford school system.

Despite local candidates dotting both the Republican and Democratic ballots, Andover voters remained at home in droves in Tuesday's primary. A total of slightly over 4,600 of the town's 13,000 plus registered voters cast ballots and lent overwhelming support to Paul W. Cronin and John F. Kerry as the candidates for the Fifth Congressional district seat vacated by F. Bradford Morse.

The Public Forum

Clean Air Act

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

In the few remaining weeks in this session Congress may consider revisions to the Clean Air Act that will chart the nation's pollution control course over the next several years. The League of Women Voters strongly supports legislation developed by Sen. Robert Stafford (R-Vt.), chairman, and the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee.

The current Clean Air Act has been a tremendous success, supported by fully 85 percent of the public.

But problems remain. Acid rain is causing environmental disaster, costing over $5 billion each year. Many air pollutants known or suspected to cause cancer continue to go uncontrolled.

This bill would deal with these problems, particularly in calling for a modest reduction in sulfur dioxide emissions, the principal cause of acid rain, by 35 percent by 1995.

When Congress considers this legislation, acid rain controls in particular will come under heavy attack, even though the proposed program will cost far less than the damage now being done.

We urge that letters be written to Senators Kennedy and Tsongas asking them to pledge their support of this bill. A strong and enforceable Clean Air Act will provide for a clean environment and a healthy, growing society.

Many thank yous from me to the voters of Andover and Lawrence for the opportunity to get to know you better.

To the candidates and the nominees, congratulations for the quality of the campaign and for getting the voters to the polls.

To the Andover TOWNSMAN for providing the regular assistance and news coverage for the candidates, great.

I enjoyed the campaign and I am most pleased to have campaigned for Andover and Lawrence. I will continue to serve my communities. If I can ever be of assistance, please call me.

Thanks, Voters

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

As a spokesperson for the local Campaign to Save the Massachusetts Bottle Bill, I'd like to express publicly my appreciation to the willing helpers who distributed information to voters leaving the polls on Primary Day about the benefits of bottle legislation and its overwhelming popularity in the eight other states that now have it. Special thanks goes to members of the Andover High School Ecology Club: Guy Brooksban, Sandy Cookson, Brian Looney, Chris McGinley, Bob Nuzzo, Derek Roberts and Sponsor Phil Nelson. The eagerness of these young people to serve a cause for the public good was truly gratifying.

levels. This includes serving as Andover's second professional town manager from 1964 to 1969 and as an elected member of the Board of Selectmen during the period of 1976 to 1978. Other Massachusetts service has been as deputy director, Office of State Planning, town administrator of Wareham and town manager of Agawam. He also was director of the New England Rail Passenger Office and its successor, the New England Rail Office, both agencies of the New England Regional Commission where he also served as transportation program director. Bowen has also been a municipal administrator in communities in Maine, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

"Massachusetts, and particularly Andover/Lawrence, are no strangers to me (or me to them). I look with a sense of satisfaction to accomplishments or occurrences during my years of public service in which I have played varying parts and degrees of parts. Trees on Main Street, the beginning of the removal of architectural barriers to the physically impaired in public buildings, resource recovery, conservation land acquisition, industrial development, consumer equity in utility rates, water supply and other similar matters in which I have been involved speak to the quality-of-life concerns that I have had about Andover and which have gone beyond words.

"It has also been my responsibility firsthand to come to grips with the requirements of Proposition 2½ in preparing, justifying and executing the Town of Agawam's 1982 operating and capital budgets. All were accomplished successfully with no reductions in vital services, no postponement of capital needs and with no self-serving public displays of uncertainty or indecisiveness concerning that town's ability or willingness to comply with the law.

"Editing some six Andover Finance Committee reports as a volunteer (in collaboration on occasion with Amos T. Flagstone) has allowed me the opportunity to demonstrate my keen and deeply-felt respect for local government and my desire to make a contribution to making citizen participation in government more informed and therefore, perhaps, more responsive to the needs, desires and aspirations of its citizens.

Local aid, pension, tax and civil service reform, governmental ethics, law enforcement, labor relations, economic development and other current Massachusetts issues are not unfamiliar to me. I have had to deal with most of them directly and to be informed concerning the others.

"My decision to be a candidate for state representative is a reflection of my continuing, consistent concern for the public good which I have sought to translate into specific, qualitative deeds. I seek to bring to bear the breadth and depth of my education, training and hands-on experience tempered by time and hopefully, the humility that time places upon most of us in the business of state government.

"I make no promises in seeking this office except that, if elected, it would receive no less in time, energy, talent and education than that which I have given to past public service."

the University of Virginia next year.

And Theodore Silverman, the son of Selectman Gerald and Myrna Silverman of Dufton Road, Andover, hopes to be a freshman at Yale, Brown or the University of Pennsylvania next fall, majoring in math. He is a former student of the Shawsheen School and East Junior High. He has worked as a volunteer swimming instructor at the YMCA, and has delivered the TOWNSMAN. He belongs to the cross-country team at Phillips, and his interests include running, reading and crossword puzzles. In the future, Ted plans to go into business.

North Andover resident Samuel Avrett, the son of Eugene H. and Judith Brett Avrett of Andover Street, attended the Franklin School and North Andover Middle School. He is active in sports, including the crew team, and plans to become involved with mime. He also works as a tutor. His career plans are uncertain, but Samuel hopes to study chemical engineering at Brown or Haverford next year.

William Elias, the son of Dr. William and Marilyn Elias of Great Pond Road, North Andover, has worked as a lifeguard and a tour guide at Phillips. A former student of the Franklin School and the North Andover Middle School, he sings with four groups: Chorus, Cantata, Fidelio, and Eight n' One; he serves as president of the latter, a barbershop-quartet style group. During his freshmen and junior years, he toured Europe with Cantata. William would like to attend Dartmouth, Harvard, Cornell or Emory, possibly majoring in pre-medicine; he is considering a career as a physician.

Margery Kingley is the daughter of Robert and Joan Kingsley of Coachman's Lane, North Andover, and a former student of the Franklin School and North Andover Middle School. A school lifeguard and tour guide, she has also participated on the crew team and the outing club. Her interests include hiking and climbing and reading. Margery's career plans are still uncertain, but she would like to study biology or English at Princeton, Williams, Dartmouth or Wesleyan.

The other Phillips Academy students named semifinalists are: Lucy Armstrong of Pelham, N.Y.; Andrew Bab of New York City, N.Y.; Rebecca Bennett of Cambridge; Nicholas DeBaun of Jamaica Plain, N.Y.; Henry Dorn of Columbia, S.C.; Joshua Feigon of Cambridge; Lawrence Gallagher of Revere; and Evan Goldberg of Lexington.

Also: David Halpert of New York City, N.Y.; Gregory Herlihy of Cambridge; Karl Jacoby of Weston; John Kim of Ron Kom Kona, N.Y.; Donald Marron of New York City, N.Y.; Abraham Morse of Brookline; Struan Robertson of Englewood, N.J.; Carin Ruff of Washington, D.C.; Elizabeth Schenck of New York City, N.Y.; Arthur Small of Iowa City, Iowa; Rahul Sonnad of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Joshua Steiner of Cambridge; Nancy Taggart of Summit, N.J.; Michael Tuchen of Boxford; Nathanael Worley of Riverside, Conn.; and Lisa Zuckerman of Piedmont, Calif.

To advance to finalist standing, the students must be fully endorsed and recommended by their schools, demonstrate high academic standing in records submitted by the school, and receive high scores on another qualifying examination. About 90 percent of the semifinalists are expected to qualify as finalists, and all merit scholars will be chosen from that group of about 13,500.

There are three types of merit scholarships: about 1,500 one-time $1,000 scholarships; about 3,500 renewable scholarships of $1,000 to $8,000 over four years of undergraduate study; and 2,000 four-year scholarships underwritten by 180 colleges and universities.

A pantry can be the most useful of all the kitchen storage areas. With adequate space, this area can be constructed off the kitchen to provide storage for large, bulky items. Pantries may be kept simple in design. Storage may consist of simple open shelving and/or may display cabinets that match the kitchen area. There also need not be plumbing, countertops or fixtures. A pantry may also be combined with a back entrance to prevent cold drafts from sweeping across the kitchen. In some instances, the laundry area may be located in the pantry. The area lends itself to many degrees of sophistication.

Those of us lucky enough to have a pantry appreciate the extra space. Is it time you modernized your pantry or kitchen? Do you need new cabinets? WINDSOR KITCHENS can help you. Call us at 372-3444 or visit us in Ward Hill at 1181 Boston Rd. We're here Mon.-Thurs. 9-5:30, Fri. 9-8, Sat. 9-5, even by appt. and can design and install a kitchen to accommodate any space or shape.

Warriors Imposing In Opener

By Rick Harrison

Quarterback Joe Keefe threw two touchdown passes.

Rarely has an Andover High football team looked as imposing in its season opener as the Golden Warriors mounted five impressive scoring drives enroute a 35-0 annihilation of visiting Merrimack Valley Conference foe Lawrence High before 2,000 fans last Saturday at Eugene V. Lovely Field.

Five different players scored touchdowns as AHS totally dominated the action, piling up 16 first downs and 335 yards total offense while holding the Lancers to six first downs and 103 yards. Lawrence crossed the mid-field stripe only twice in the entire game.

Both teams were virtually wiped out by graduation, but Andover obviously had more talent waiting in the wings last year.

Saturday marked Andover's first victory over Lawrence in three years, and it was also the first time since 1979 that the Warriors had scored against the Lancers who won 17-0 in 1980 and battled to a 0-0 tie last season.

Senior quarterback Joe Keefe made a spectacular varsity starting debut, firing two touchdown passes, scoring once himself and completing 10-of-13 aerials for 166 yards. All this after having his first pass intercepted on the initial play of the game.

Fullback Andy Emmert scored on a three-yard run.

In addition to Keefe, other TDs were notched by senior fullbacks Tom Duncan and Andy Emmert, Tri-Capt. Greg Sacco and swift junior halfback Pete Comeau.

Despite an overall lack of size, Coach Dick Collins' crew displayed excellent team speed as advertised, and for the first time in several years solid ground game emerged as Andover rushed for 133 yards.

In other MVC games last weekend Tewksbury drilled Haverhill 25-6, Wilmington slammed Dracut 27-8, Lowell High edged Lawrence Central 7-0, Chelmsford slipped past surprising Greater-Lawrence Regional 16-7, and Methuen nudged Billerica 8-6.

This Saturday Andover should get a stiffer test as the Warriors hit the road to face defending Conference champ and 1981 Eastern Mass. Division II Super Bowl participant Tewksbury High at the Center School field in Tewksbury.

Warrior Booters Win Two

By She Livermore

Jim Denoncourt congratulates co-captain Steve Carbone, who scored to tie the score at two apiece.

The Merrimack Valley defending champions will play their first Saturday home game against Chelmsford this weekend. Kick-off time is at 10:30 a.m. on the Eugene Lovely stadium field. The JVs will also play at 10:30 a.m. on the field next to the high school. Both teams are undefeated with wins against Greater Lawrence Technical School and Billerica last week.

Andover 10 -

Greater Law. Tech. 2

In the first quarter Greater Lawrence Tech took a 1-0 lead on a penalty shot. They also had to play short-handed following the ejection of their goalie.

Early in the second quarter, Chris Egan tied it up with his first varsity goal. Greater Lawrence Tech came back and took the lead on an excellent direct kick to the corner of the net and out of the reach of Capt. Danny Kimball; it was a well-placed shot over the defending wall and just under the crossbar. Andover tied the score when Capt. Steve Carbone converted a penalty kick. At half-time the score was 2-2.

In the second half, the flood gates opened. Capitalizing on the fact that the Greater Lawrence Tech's goalie was out of the game, Andover scored eight goals while holding the opposition scoreless. The game breaker was scored by David Keane from just inside the edge of the penalty area, an excellent shot to the lower corner. Also scoring were Dan Boland-penalty shot, Carbone and Egan with their second goal of the game, Greg Batten, Jim Denoncourt, Tom McGuinness and Paul Hevehan, who curved a corner kick directly into the net.

Todd Lockwood played very well at defense, as did Rob Retelle. Seeing varsity action for Andover for the first time were Hai Dang, Craig Silva, Dan Allard, Dan Poore and Nick Bates.

Andover 3 - Billerica 0

On Saturday Andover traveled to Billerica to play their arch rivals and christen their new soccer field. In a total team effort, the Warrior Booters subdued Billerica and came away with a 3-0 victory.

The first quarter was scoreless. Billerica

Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m.

Riding High

Andover cashed in during five of its seven possessions, and wasted little time establishing its superiority over Coach Steve Perocchi's crew.

Bob LeFebre picked off Joe Keefe's opening pass at the Lawrence 44, but two plays later AHS defensive linemen John McLellan and Keith Dyer pounced on a Lancers' fumble at the visitors' 46 yard line.

The Golden Warriors moved the 46 yards to paydirt in eight plays, with 14 yard runs by Keefe and Sacco and a 19-yard pass completion to senior wide receiver Mike Lucey sandwiched around an eight-yard sack by the Lancers' Dave Hoffman.

Sacco's 14-yard burst advanced the ball to the one yard line, and two plays later Tom Duncan powered over right tackle for the touchdown.

Charlie Ziegenbein, who later split the uprights with three conversion kicks, saw this one sail wide left to keep it 6-0 with 5:03 gone in the period.

The Lancers took the ensuing kickoff and drove from their own 31 to the Andover 26, sparked by the running of Hoffman, Tony Sarkis and QB Tim Bryant. Hoffman ate up 29 of those yards in four carries.

But Tom Duncan smashed through to sack Bryant for an eight-yard loss on second down, and two plays later Lawrence surrendered on downs at the 29.

Aerial Assault

Keefe, who completed seven straight passes after the interception, unlimbered his throwing arm as the Golden Warriors drove 71 yards in just six plays for their second TD at 3:45 of the second quarter.

Keefe pitched an 11-yard pass to Pete Comeau to get things started, and following short runs by Sacco and Keefe, it was Comeau again on a flashy 51-yard pass-and-run play that moved the ball to the Lancers' seven.

Comeau caught the ball just inside the Lawrence 30 and slithered away from three would-be tacklers before LeFebre pulled him down from behind.

Sacco hit the line for three yards, an illegal procedure penalty moved the ball back to the nine, and then Keefe pinpointed Sacco in the left front corner of the endzone for a nine-yard touchdown strike.

Keefe's two-point conversion toss to E.J. Perry made it 14-0.

The AHS defense stymied Lawrence in its own territory on the Lancers' next series, forcing a LeFebre punt, and the Warriors marched 50 yards in seven plays to chalk up their third TD with just 34 second left in the half.

Sacco reeled off 10 yards, Keefe zipped passes to Perry for eight yards and Comeau for 18, and then runs by Keefe Duncan and Comeau brought the ball to the Lancers' one-yard line.

Keefe notched the six-pointer on a keeper, and Ziegenbein's kick was true for a 21-0 Andover cushion at halftime.

More Of The Same

Proving that the first half was certainly no fluke, Andover drove 76 yards in 12 plays on its only possession of the third quarter.

Sacco took a pitchout and rambled right for 15 yards, Comeau went four yards on a sweep to the left side, and Keefe spotted Perry for 10 and 11 yard aeriels to bring the ball to the Lancers' 36.

Comeau and Sacco chewed up seven yards each before Lawrence Tri-Capt. Don Censullo threw Keefe for an 11-yard loss.

The setback was merely temporary, however, as Keefe immediately lofted a 26-yard pass to Lucey who was pulled down at the Lancers' three.

Comeau then cradled a pitchout and skirted the left side for the fourth touchdown.

Ziegenbein's PAT hiked the lead to 28-0 at 6:30 of the third period.

Lawrence followed with its only serious bid of the game, taking sophomore place-kicker Craig Hammond's ensuing kickoff and driving from its own 33-yard line to the Andover five.

The 10-play march was highlighted by a 30-yard pass from Bryant to Hoffman, and the running of Tony Sarkis who carried six times for 33 yards.

The threat fizzled when Chris Coots nailed Hoffman for a seven-yard loss on third down, and then Sacco intercepted a Bryant pass at the goalline and returned it to the Lancers' 27.

Final Touchdown

Sacco's bit of larceny initiated the final touchdown drive, a well-executed 73 yard, nine-play trek engineered by junior quarterback Ralph Dellatto.

Junior halfback Bob Stabile ripped off a 13-yard run, Dellatto hooked up with junior wide receiver Mark Grams on a pretty 36-yard pass play, and runs by Dellatto (nine yards), senior halfback Mark Pelletier and sophomore California transfer Dave Shivers brought the ball to the Lawrence three yard line.

Andy Emmert powered the final three yards for the fifth touchdown at 5:20 of the fourth quarter, and Ziegenbein's boot made it 35-0.

Four plays later the Lancers punted from deep in their own territory, and the game ended with Andover at the Lawrence 37 after short runs by Shivers, junior Eric Fitzpatrick and junior John Delaney.

As mentioned earlier, Andover led in every major statistical category including first downs (16-6), yards rushing (133-69), yards passing (202-34), total yardage from scrimmage (335-103) and scrimmage plays (52-39).

Comeau caught three passes for 80 yards, Lucey 2-for-45 yards, Perry 4-for-32 yards, Grams 1-for-36 yards and Sacco 1-for-9 yards.

Sacco picked up 50 yards rushing in seven carries, Comeau 20 yards in six lugs, Keefe a net five yards in seven carries (sacked twice for -19 yards), Shivers 15 yards in three carries and Pelletier 10 yards in three totes to lead the diversified ground game.

Andover had just one turnover, was penalized just twice for 20 yards, and the golden warriors didn't have to punt the ball once.

Booters

made some good shots on net, but Capt. Danny Kimball blocked them to keep Andover in the game.

In the second quarter Andover took a two-goal lead. The first goal was headed in by Capt. Dan Boland off a corner kick by Capt. Steve Carbone, which was mishandled in front of the Billerica net. The second score came minutes later as defender Craig Silva took a direct kick and placed the ball at the foot of Carbone who put it over the onrushing goalkeeper for a pretty score.

With the score 2-0 at halftime, Andover came roaring back not willing to give up the momentum. Continued pressure resulted in a picture-perfect scoring play for Andover's last score. Boland recovered the ball in Andover's penalty area and carried it across the midfield where he slotted an excellent pass to John Hevehan who handled the ball well and passed it up to Paul Finnegan in the center, who passed it behind the defense to Greg Batten. Batten put an excellent shot into the Billerica net just inside the right post.

Billerica played most of the game with a strong defensive formation and Andover was happy to score three goals. In the final quarter Billerica broke their defensive formation and made many attempts to score, however, they could only register one ball off the crossbar. Billerica will continue to contend for the Merrimack Valley Title and this was a good opportunity for Andover to measure its ability.

Parents Without Partners (PWP), Merrimack Valley Chapter 136, will hold a "Western Round-up" singles dance on Saturday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m. at the VFW, Chickering Road (Rte. 125) at Park Street, North Andover.

THE SAABSTORE OF COURSE

Four Andover Girls On Brooks Soccer Team

The Brooks School girls soccer team begins its third season of varsity competition with a home game on Wednesday, Sept. 29, against a strong Dana Hall team from Wellesley.

Brooks, a member of the 12-team Independent School League, hopes to improve on last year's 4-9-1 record. Optimism is high since the roster includes ten starters from last season, along with four outstanding newcomers who are likely to find places in the starting lineup.

This year's team includes five Andover residents: Jennifer Smith, Christine Philipp, Erin Sheehan, Kathy Kimball and Susan Perocchi.

Brooks has fared well in two pre-season scrimmages. A lengthy scrimmage with Hotchkiss School from Connecticut produced no goals for either team. Hotchkiss, 15-1 last season, is the defending Western New England Private School Champions. Brooks defeated Arlington High School by a score of 3-2.

Smith and Philipp, both returning starters, have looked good in pre-season workouts and will probably earn starting positions at right and left halfbacks, respectively. Both are tenacious in the midfield and rarely tire. Smith is especially tenacious on defense, while Philipp is a key playmaker offensively.

Kimball and Sheehan, new to Brooks this fall, have impressed coach Bob Morahan with their skill, enthusiasm and stamina. Kimball, sweeper, possesses great speed along with the ability to kick accurately with either foot. Early workouts indicate that she is a potential All-League player.

Sheehan will undoubtedly be on the forward line, most likely at right wing. In addition to her excellent speed, she understands the position and is a determined player at all times.

Perocchi, a reserve fullback last fall, is likely to play a similar role this season.

The schedule is: Sept. 29, Dana Hall, H; Oct. 2, Phillips, A; Oct. 6, Lawrence Academy, A; Oct. 9, Groton, H; Oct. 13, Concord Academy, H; Oct. 16, Thayer Academy, H; Oct. 20, St. Paul's, A; Oct. 23, Governor Dummer, H; Oct. 27, Noble and Greenough, H; Oct. 30, St. Mark's, A;

Nov. 3, Milton Academy, Browne and Nichols, A; Nov. 12, Worcester Academy, H; Nov. 6, Buckingham, Nov. 10, Middlesex, H; Nov. 13, Worcester Academy, H.

Hunter Safety

Natural Resource Officer Gordon Como has scheduled a Hunter Safety course to be held at the Tewksbury Rod & Gun Club, Chandler Road, Tewksbury, starting Sept. 23 at 7 p.m.

Each person who graduates from a hunter safety program conducted by the Division of Law Enforcement, Department of Fisheries & Wildlife, receives a Certificate of Competency in the Safe Handling of Firearms. This certificate allows a person between the ages of 15 and 17 years, after purchasing a hunting or sporting license with parental permission, to hunt in Massachusetts woodlands without being accompanied by a licensed adult. Many states require this training - provided without charge in Massachusetts - before they will issue any hunting license.

Violation

Paul also explained in his letter that the athletic department has been scheduling trips and securing contractors for all athletic activities. The list of activities, destinations and dates were first submitted to Dorothy and William Piercy. After they had selected trips, other contractors were solicited. Trombly Bus Company provided for those trips no one else wanted.

"...As we were a party to a violation in the first instance, inadvertant though it may have been," wrote Paul, "we are also party to a violation in the second issue, in that athletic transportation, though significantly in excess of $4,000 cost, has not been the subject of competitive, public bids."

From now on, athletic transportation will be put out to bid.

As far as the Sept. 15 mixup the Piercy's complained about, when two buses allegedly arrived for the same field trip, Paul noted a purchase order was made out to William Piercy dated Sept. 13.

"Any assignment of trips to Mr. Piercy for Sept. 15 is significantly absent," wrote Paul.

Neal said he and fellow school committeeman Robert Smith toured all of Andover's schools, including the Bancroft. He said while there are problems at the Bancroft, a "considerable amount of effort" has gone into that school.

Neal said conditions at the Doherty were "fantastically great" considering the time schedule for the school's opening. "It's unbelievable what took place in a short period of time," he said.

Schoolman Michael Giammusso noted that the Doherty was "absolutely marvel-

Real Estate
By DOUGLAS N. HOWE

REALTOR

RUMORS, RUMORS, RUMORS

There's probably more rumor-mongering in real estate and building than in any other area of business. You hear them all the time ... rumors about home prices; rumors about financing (easy or hard to get); rumors about interest rates (going up or down) ... you name it, and there's sure to be a rumor going around to fit.

The rumors are usually highly ambiguous. You'll almost never hear actual figures used. If word is out that interest rates are "high", one's first reaction should be: "What is meant by high?" Sure, they're higher than they were years ago, but that still DOESN'T mean that they're out of everybody's reach. Translated into practical figures, people still can afford mortgages and monthly payments.

The point we're trying to make is NOT to make any decisions based on rumors; ignore the rumors and come and talk to us, even if you're just "toying" with the idea of buying a home. We know the REAL present situation, and can advise you regarding your particular needs.

If there is anything
we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE
HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., And-
over. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the first and final account(s) of George W. Bomer as Administrator (the fiduciary) of said estate of said deceased has been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said account(s), you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Lawrence on or before the twelfth day of October, 1982, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by registered or certified mail to the fiduciary, or to the attorney for the fiduciary, obtain without cost a copy of said account(s). If you desire to object to any item of said account(s), you must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, a copy to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P.

Rule 5.

Witness, Albert P. Pettoruto,
Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this ninth day of September 1982.

Arrested In Rock Throwing

Three juveniles were scheduled to be arraigned in Lawrence Juvenile Court and charged with three separate charges of malicious damage to personal property over $100 for allegedly throwing rocks from the Route 28 overpass across Route 495 about 7 p.m. Saturday and smashing the car windshields of several motorists, including some Andover residents.

Three drivers reported their windshields smashed. They were John H. Carroll, 5 Sherry Drive, and Kevin Kelley, 348 North Main St., both of Andover, and Nick Droziako, of Lowell.

Victor Droziako, of Rochester, N.Y., also travelling on the highway, reportedly witnessed the rock throwing, stopped his car, chased the youths and reported their names to the Andover police.

ous." He said the media center at the West was "superb" and "beautiful."

ENROLLMENT AND STAFFING:

Seifert said more students are enrolled in Andover schools this year than was projected, but overall, enrollment is down.

He noted it would be appreciated if parents would call the school department when they are planning to move out of town or enroll their children in a private school. "Chasing those phantom students around" creates problems, he said.

With some exceptions that will be handled, school staffing is generally within school committee guidelines, according to Assistant Superintendent Dr. Charles Mitsakos.

A few classes scattered among the Sanborn School, the South School, the West Contemporary program and the West Traditional program have pupil to teacher ratios of 27 to 1 or 28 to 1. Averages, however, are below those figures.

CITIZENS COMMITTEE:

Giammusso reported that the 15-member Citizens Advisory Steering Committee elected as co-chairmen Lois Haslem and Paul Kris. Theresa McNally was chosen as secretary.

Meetings of the committee are open to the public. They will meet next on Wednesday, Sept. 22, 7:30 p.m. at the Shawsheen School and again on Sept. 28.

NO SCHOOL POLICY:

The committee voted to have the school administration explore the possibility and look into the legal aspects of delaying the opening of school during inclement weather instead of cancelling classes altogether.

HALF-DAY:

An early release day for students had been scheduled for Nov. 3. It has now been changed to Nov. 2. Secondary students will be released at 11 o'clock, and elementary students will be dismissed at 12 o'clock. No school lunch will be served on that day.

ATHLETIC INSURANCE:

The committee decided to reinstitute athletic insurance for this year, in light of concerns over legal questions as to whether the schools should provide insurance.

EXECUTIVE SESSION:

The committee passed for a first reading the following policy on executive sessions:

A roll call vote will be required for the committee to go into executive session; the minutes of an executive session are confidential and must remain so until otherwise voted at a later date; matters discussed in executive session should not be revealed until after the minutes have been released; to prematurely discuss the outside matters included in executive session breaches trust, and the violator would be subject to censure.
